

Connor is snickering, Patrick is confused. Connor reaches into his jacket pocket and pulls out a ring box. He plops it in front of Patrick and he opens it.

CONNOR

Thus the Bed and Breakfast. Romantic get away, fire place, one knee...

PATRICK

Oh my God. This is so sudden...but yes, yes, a million times yes!

CONNOR

Dumb ass.

PATRICK

Wow! This is huge. I am so happy for you guys. Disturbed, but happy.

CONNOR

Really?

PATRICK

Nobody else could put up with you two. You're doing a service for gay America by being with each other.

Patrick kisses him on the cheek.

CONNOR

Thank you. We love you too. But the whole surprise party thing is kinda messin this up. It's my birthday, together for 5 years...just felt right.

PATRICK

Then propose on your actual birthday.

CONNOR

Or...? What if I flip this around? He would never see it coming.

PATRICK

The surpriser, becomes the surprisee. It's devious and unseemly

CONNOR

Thought you'd like it.

PATRICK

But of course.

A waiter comes up to the table, young, good looking and straight.

PATRICK (CONT'D)

My friend here is getting married.
Does that give you any ideas?

Patrick is holding out his ring finger to the waiter and acting coy. The waiter barely acknowledges them. He fills their water glasses and leaves.

PATRICK (CONT'D)

I hate that I'm still going to over tip him.